

CHAPTER 13

Getting Deals on Wheels

Buying a car is a big deal that can cost you big money. Whether you pay cash up front or lease or finance your new car, there are pitfalls to steer clear of and information to gather to avoid paying too much. And maybe you should consider buying a used one, anyway. The Internet has revolutionized how people buy cars and made it possible for you to educate yourself before you head to the dealer.