

order. If one of your heirs dies, you should change your will to remove that person. If the executor of your will, administrator of your trust, or the guardian you appointed for your kids dies or becomes incapacitated, make changes immediately.