

Make sure the insurance company you purchase a policy from has the financial strength to pay your claims. Check the company's rating at www.moody.com, www.standardandpoors.com, or www.ambest.com. You should stick to insurance companies that are rated A by one or more of these rating companies.

A living will provides that in certain specified circumstances the person executing the instrument directs that all life-sustaining equipment be disconnected and life-prolonging drugs stopped. The goal of this directive is to prevent one from living a life in a permanently vegetative state with no prospect for recovery.
