

Of course, that could be said of almost every career and every business, whether it is plumbing or haberdashery. One generation lays a foundation. The next can build on it.

That is another payoff of compound effort over time.

Notes

1. “Doug Casey on Fresh Starts,” www.caseyresearch.com/cwc/doug-casey-fresh-starts.
2. “William C. Weldon Profile,” Forbes.com, <http://people.forbes.com/profile/william-c-weldon/46484>.
3. Abbigail J. Chiodo and Michael T. Owyang, “For Love or Money: Why Married Men Make More,” Regional Economist, April 2002.