

FUN & ENTER- TAINMENT

What's life without the thrill? While not absolutely necessary for survival, a good time now and again can keep you hoping and dreaming (and make the mundane tasks of balancing the checkbook and monitoring credit card balances a bit more tolerable). Do the most memorable of moments have to cost an extraordinary amount of money? We don't think so. In fact, we have made it our mission to experience the best the world has to offer on a less-than-modest income. This chapter is sure to open your eyes to just how compatible fun and frugality can be.
