

of good returns. You are interested in sheltering income from taxation, and your moderate aggressive portfolio is likely geared toward retirement.

Average Allocation: 80% Equities (of which up to 40% can be International and up to 10% can be Sector), 20% Fixed Income

6. Aggressive

You are ready to hang it all out there, and in market scenarios when news of the sky falling is rampant, you are cool as a cucumber. You are interested in tax shelters, are young, and certainly have a long time frame to ride out the bumps.

Average Allocation: 100% Equities (of which up to 50% can be International and up to 15% can be Sector)

ASSET ALLOCATION IS IMPORTANT FOR YOU

It doesn't matter what stage of your life you are in—asset allocation applies to you! If you don't have a portfolio to speak of and are looking at saving money each month, that doesn't mean you don't deserve to have a properly allocated portfolio; simply start now.

There are lots of managed funds out there that will cater to your specific investment personality and will take care of the asset allocation for you within the fund. All you have to do is worry about saving the money; your solid asset allocation plan and the investment managers will take care of the rest. — Nora Dunn

8 Investing Tips for Any Market

What if there was a way to invest with less worry and less emotion? Now I can't say that you can be entirely worry-free when you invest, but you can certainly mitigate concerns over your portfolio when you apply a few techniques. As an investor for over 20 years who's lived through two recessions (and going on a third), here are some tips to weather market cycles without losing sleep.

1. Look at the long-term

The idea of "long-term" varies depending on how old you are. The younger you are, the longer is your investment time horizon and the more time your investments can grow