

personal experiences, as well as savvy advice from other top financial gurus around the web.

While many personal finance tips focus on a one-size-fits-all approach, we understand that no two people are exactly alike. We enjoy different hobbies, maintain unique relationships, and care for our finances in ways that are relevant to our own lives. With our rich diversity of tips for living large on a small budget, we are certain you can find what you need here, regardless of where you are in life. And if you crave more, you can get tips on Wise Bread.com.

Financial freedom is about making choices that are important to you, so you won't get a constant lecture from us of "Don't buy this" or "Keep your money at home." Your money is yours, and the decisions you make are yours, as well. We hope that by getting a hint or two from us, you can have more of it to enjoy!

.....

