

On top of being less expensive (tanks and tees costing less than most work shirts), you'll be more comfortable this way. And when you're more comfortable, you'll feel more like yourself, and it'll be easier to be at work all day.

4. Sometimes, you can get away with a T-shirt

No one will ever tell you this, but when you're wearing a jacket, particularly when you're going to keep it buttoned, most people won't focus on you long enough to tell if you're wearing a T-shirt or something fancier. It's the same when you're layering a shirt under a button-down or a sweater. There's no need to spend as much on that under-layer as you do on what goes over it!

If you're worried, choose soft T-shirts made with thick material with decorations at the neckline. Just make sure it's something you'd be comfortable wearing outside of work, too, because that's how you'll save the most. — Sarah Winfrey

6 Cheaper Ways to Have Fabulous Hair

In high school, I watched a friend drop over $100 on a trip to her favorite salon. I'd always known that her hair looked better than mine, but I couldn't believe that it was simply a matter of money. I didn't want it to be, either. Even in high school, I had other financial priorities. There are frugal options for taking care of your locks, though. It's taken me a while to find them, but I use these tricks regularly.

1. Skip the repeat

"Lather. Rinse. Repeat." It's one of the greatest marketing phrases of the 20th century, but it's misleading. To get your hair clean, one lather-and-rinse cycle is plenty.

2. Eat a healthy diet

You can eat your way to better hair. If you eat a balanced diet—plenty of fruits and vegetables, as well as protein—your body will have the nutrients necessary to grow healthy
