

I wouldn't consider any of these saving options drastic measures to cut down your water bill right away, but they do add up over time. Just a few tips practiced consistently can make a big difference on your bottom line, and that's not just good for the wallet, it's good for the environment too!