

you're a movie junkie, Netflix is probably your cup of tea. Love to binge watch TV episodes? Hulu is where it's at. And if you're an HGTV addict, you'll definitely want to invest in Sling.

Like I mentioned before, each of these streaming options does require a Smart TV or a separate streaming device such as a Roku, Chromecast, Amazon Fire TV stick, Xbox, or Apple TV device to fully function, but it's just a one-time fee that is quickly recovered by going a few months without cable. Each device also comes with its own set of channels and shows included, and many don't even require a subscription to access.

READER TIP:

We have had Hulu and Netflix for two years and don't miss cable at all!

—Katie, MD