

Spending more on our appearance seems justifiable no matter how much you spend, but I hope I've been able to prove that you don't have to give up your favorite products or beauty indulgences just to save a buck. There are plenty of other opportunities to cut costs and still make a big difference!