

2. SHOP ONLINE

One of the things I love about today's day in age is the ability to shop online. It's not just for clothes anymore—cleaning supplies, paper products, and even groceries can now be delivered straight to your home.

I've been a member of the Amazon Subscribe and Save program for a couple of years, and it's one of my favorite ways to save on all the household supplies I need to make my home run as smoothly as possible. Basically, you shop the Subscribe and Save store and add different household items to your account that are then sent to you on a recurring basis at a 5% discount.

Some items (like toilet paper) I have coming every month, and my dishwasher tablets come every three to four. The more subscriptions you add to your account, the more you save across the board. Last I checked, five subscriptions gave you a 15% discount on all items!

For a cheaper source of organic and non-toxic supplies, sign up for Grove Collaborative. This company sends a box of goodies to your door whenever you place an order online, and lets you know when it's time to order a refill. It's super convenient and prices are comparable to the brands you would find at Target.

I have personally fallen in love with their Method Hand Soap (after your first purchase you can buy liquid refills that are much cheaper than buying another bottle), Mrs. Meyer's Cleaning Spray, and Method Laundry Detergent. Use my referral link and get $10 off your first purchase:

CreativeSavingsBlog.com/GroveCollab

3. REPLACE YOUR PAPER PRODUCTS

I'm a huge fan of paper towels, but using them to do ALL your cleaning finishes up a roll incredibly fast, not to mention it fills garbage bags and landfills with unnecessary trash. I use them pretty exclusively when I'm