

Just a few product swaps and a focus on minimal waste will go a long way in shrinking the cost of your cleaning supplies. And since you use these products almost every day, being careful about what you buy and how much you spend is crucial to keeping this part of your budget under control. Thankfully, you can do both without cutting any cleaning power!