

You don't need to be afraid of expensive home repairs, but it's smart not to underestimate them either. Be prepared with an emergency reserve, and always look for ways to cut costs throughout the process!