Shell offers a more generic Fuel Rewards program that allows everyday purchases to count towards fuel discounts. You also get $.03 off per gallon just for being a member, which means you never have to pay full price for gas again! You can learn more about this program at FuelRewards.com.

And lastly, if you have a credit card, see what the cash back percentage is on gas-only purchases (it's usually between 2-5%). You could earn an extra $100 per year just by paying for a commodity you need to buy anyway. If you are nervous about owning a credit card, a gas-only card makes it super simple to build credit and maintain much-needed discipline. Since you only charge for the fuel you use, it's pretty easy to avoid overspending. Just be sure to pay that bill in full, every month!

6. DRIVE SMARTER

The Internet has quite a few “gas saving hacks” that tell you driving slower, filling your tires to the appropriate pressure, or avoiding routes with extra stop signs and traffic lights will help your tank last longer.

Here's what the U.S. Department of Energy has to say⁴:

- Aggressive driving lowers your gas mileage by 33% on the highway, and 5% around town.
- Idling can use ¼-½ a gallon of fuel per hour. Any shutdown longer than 1 minute will save money. (e.g., school pickup lines)
- Tires inflated to the proper pressure increase gas mileage up to 3.3%.
