

- Check your credit report regularly or before a major purchase.
- Make the choice to receive interest and not pay it. When you run a balance, you are paying an average of 13 percent interest, according to Consumer Action (or a higher rate if you have bad credit), and losing out on any interest you could be receiving from saving or investing this same money.
- The journey to becoming debt-free requires patience.

