

“There is an old Arab Proverb which says that ‘When you go shopping for wisdom, visit every tent in the bazaar.’ When Robert Prechter published his first book in 1978 predicting the super bull market of the 1980s, only a very few people visited his tent. I hope more people will visit his tent today, in order to understand the financial, economic and social implications of At the Crest of the Tidal Wave.”

— Marc Faber, Faber Ltd., Hong Kong

“Recently I finished reading for the third time Charles Mackay’s classic, Extraordinary Popular Delusions and the Madness of Crowds, first published in 1841. Not much has changed, and here we are at yet another turning point in history. Bob Prechter’s At the Crest of the Tidal Wave probably will join Mackay’s famous book as one of the most prescient of the past 175 years. After more than forty years in the stock market, and as a fellow student of market history who thoroughly enjoys Prechter’s insights, I say to you...ignore Bob’s book at your peril.”

— Charles Allmon, President, Growth Stock Outlook

“The icy logic and stunning originality with which Prechter predicts the impending death of our Grand Bull Market make At the Crest of the Tidal Wave eminently worthy of attention. But the fact that years ago this same author stood virtually alone in prophesying the birth of this very same bull market renders his current vision absolutely indispensable to serious investors.”

— Paul Macrae Montgomery, Legg Mason Wood Walker

“The scholarly discipline, ultra long-term historical perspective and topical diversity of Robert Prechter’s discerning At the Crest of the Tidal Wave will challenge all serious investors to re-examine today’s ‘buy and hold’ mantra.”

— Henry Van der Eb, Chairman, Mathers Fund

“Prechter reveals the Elliott Wave ‘big picture’ in compelling detail in a book that belongs in every investor’s library. It could help save your investment future.”

— Peter Eliades, Editor, Stockmarket Cycles

“At the Crest of the Tidal Wave is a brilliant and important piece of long wave research with potentially devastating investment implications for the future.”

— Paul Tudor Jones II, President, Tudor Investment Corp.