

b. Interpersonal Issues

With peers or superiors.

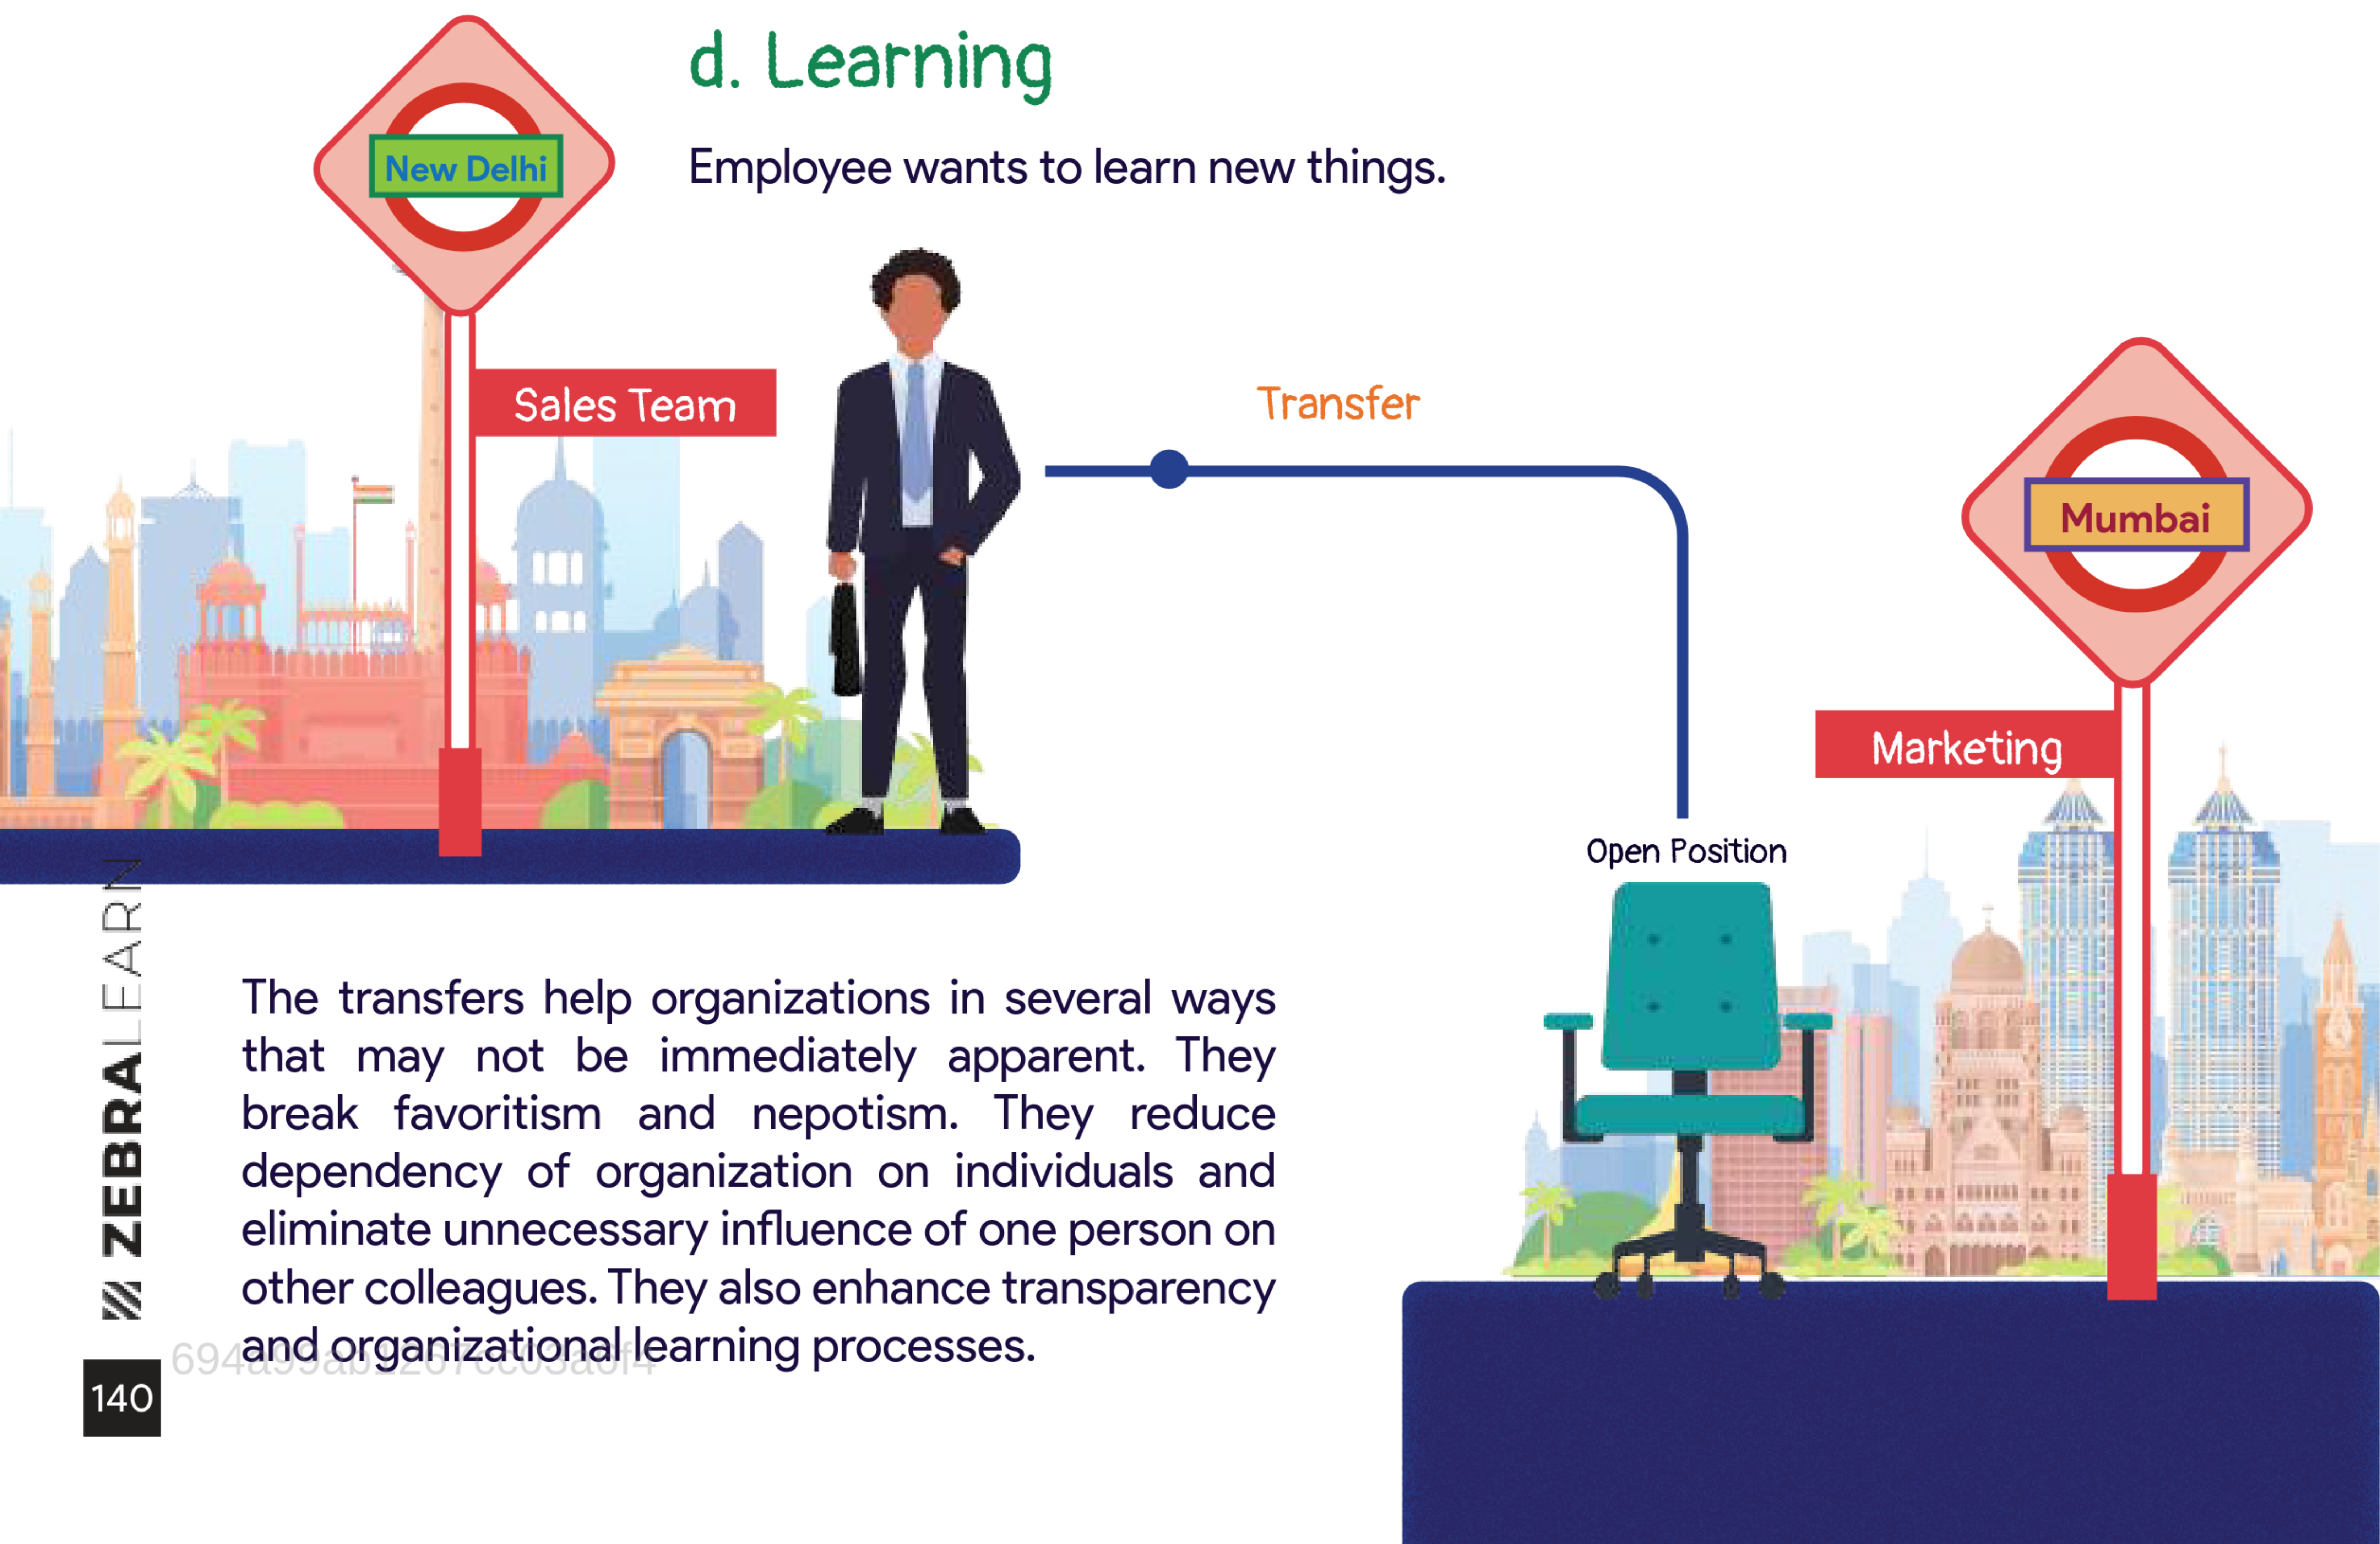

c. Monotony

Employee is sick of doing the same job.

d. Learning

Employee wants to learn new things.

The transfers help organizations in several ways that may not be immediately apparent. They break favoritism and nepotism. They reduce dependency of organization on individuals and eliminate unnecessary influence of one person on other colleagues. They also enhance transparency and organizational learning processes.