

| Compliances          | EPF                                                                 | ESI                                             |
|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Employee Eligibility | Employees earning less than 15,000 per month in Basic Salary and DA | Employees earning less than 21,000 per month    |
| Filing of Returns    | 15 days from end of month                                           | 42 days from the end of the contribution period |
| Payment of Dues      | On a monthly basis                                                  | On a monthly basis                              |

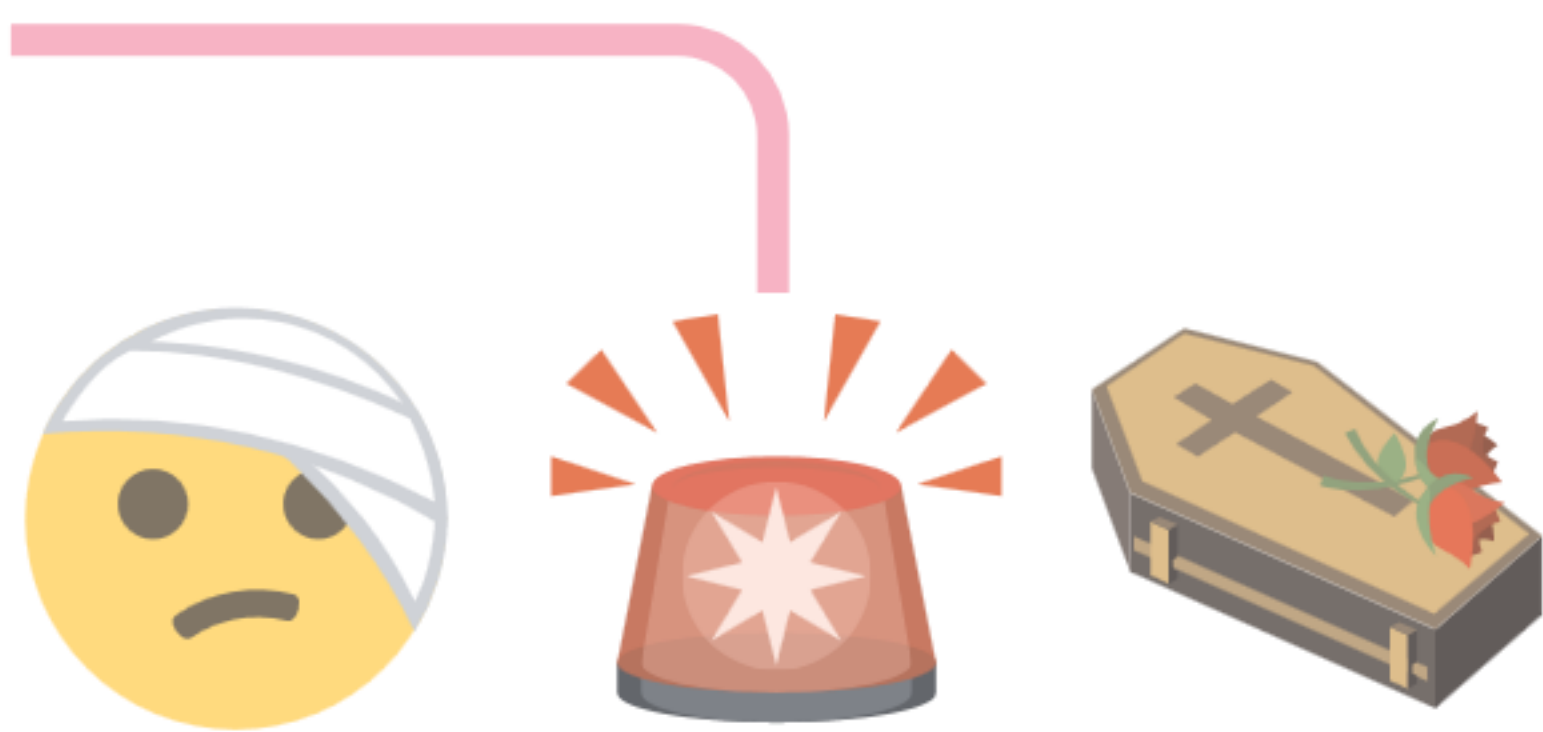

The ESI takes care of health, accidents, and death. There is another layer of safety provided by the Worker’s Compensation Act.

2.

The Worker’s Compensation Act, 1923

The Workmen’s Compensation Act provides compensation to the workers in case of injury, disability or death during the course of employment.

The key compliance requirement under the act are:

-  1. Registration - Register with the respective state government.
-  2. Payment of compensation - Pay compensation to workers in case of injury, disability, or death. You may take an insurance policy to cover the liability.
-  3. Filings of returns - Maintain a register of accidents and file annual returns (submit yearly report)
-  4. Display of notice - Display notice to make workmen aware about their rights.

Social security is also ensured through timely payment of wages.