

Mentoring by the current holder improves the chances of success of a successor. The idea of naming multiple successors is to create a healthy competition among successors. This gives them motivation to work towards their development plan.

You must upfront communicate to the successors that there are no guarantees.

4. Succession Decision

The Succession decision is taken when the incumbent of the position retires or departs. Departure could be because of any reason including transfer, resignation or death. The best candidate from both, internal and external pools should be selected to fill the position.
