

4. Appeal

In case an employee disagrees with the decision, they should be given a right to appeal.

- a. Reopening - The employee should submit an appeal explaining the reason for reconsidering the decision.
- b. New Evidence - In case the employee has any new evidence, that should be presented to the panel.
- c. New Panel - The appeal should be heard by a different set of people who were not involved in the first hearing.

5. Review and Closure

You should review the grievance one to three months after the action plan was implemented. The steps to be followed include

- a. Review - Whether the grievance got resolved.
- b. Check - Whether the employee is happy and is not being harassed for raising a grievance. Take action accordingly.
- c. Closure - Formally close the grievance.

You should feel happy after closing a grievance. However, the better way is to proactively look at reducing the number of grievances in the organization.
