

3. Grievance System

Establish a method to handle the grievances. This creates a formal channel for grievances to flow instead of floating around in the organization. You may implement a RADAR system to handle grievances.

4. Manager Training

Train managers to identify signs of grievances early and work with employees facing such issues with maturity.

