

Before Pandemic

During the pandemic, there was a lockdown. People started ordering groceries online because they had no other option.

After Pandemic

After the pandemic was over, things returned to normal. Now there was a choice. Despite this, people continued to order groceries online.

The reason was that people had become accustomed to it. The pandemic has made people more tech savvy.

Earlier, only pizza used to be delivered in 30 minutes. After a pandemic everything arrives in less than 30 minutes. The same people come to work in your organization. Suppose, an employee requests a service letter from you in order to obtain a passport.

Not possible! Please collect it tomorrow!

Hello! Could you please send me the service letter today?

Will you ask the employee to collect it the next day? You cannot afford to do that. It has a direct impact on the employee experience and the employer brand. HR technology was once considered cutting-edge, but it has become hygiene.
