

HR Platform

HR platform is a HR technology system that automates HR processes in a way that allows stakeholders to serve themselves without relying on an individual.

The best way to understand a platform is to visualize the Uber app. Uber app is platform where customers can book cabs without the need for a middleman. The unavailability of an individual driver does not affect the service provided to a customer. Same way a driver can also find customers on the platform.

The platform is designed in such a way that all transactions occur on the platform. The transactions make the platform data rich. It improves efficiency, experience, cost and decision quality. There are three types of platforms that serve different types of needs
