

Referrals

Referrals are a successful way to encourage people to try your product or service. It is simple, just offer a one-time discount when the customer makes a purchase or signs up for your product or service.

Satisfied customers can serve as brand ambassadors, recommending your product or service to their network, which fosters trust and drives organic growth. Referral programmes are the power of word-of-mouth marketing, using existing customer acquisition to grow your business.

Satisfied Customer

Customer

Prospective Customer

You can explore traditional methods of acquiring customers, such as attending events, setting up booths at different locations or hubs, and creating informative blogs.