

3. Product Distribution Models

Direct-to-Consumer (D2C) Model

The direct-to-consumer (D2C) model is where products are sold directly to consumers without any middlemen, intermediaries, or channels involved in the process.

One of the best examples of this model would be Lenskart: Lenskart has transformed the eyewear shopping experience in India by adopting a Direct-to-Consumer (D2C) approach. They offer a wide range of eyeglasses, sunglasses, and contact lenses through their e-commerce platform and retail stores across the country.

Lenskart eliminates the need for middlemen by manufacturing their eyewear and selling it directly to consumers. This allows them to offer competitive prices, maintain quality control, and provide a seamless shopping experience from selection to delivery.

