

4. Rules of Engagement and Equal Partnership

After completing the analysis and reviewing its outcomes, the next step is to establish clear guidelines for aligning with your partners. This will give you a strong ground to analyse the partnership terms.

Before entering into a business partnership, it's essential to ask the following questions:

- A Do we share the same values, goals, and work ethics beyond financial considerations?
- B How committed are we to achieving our objectives, focusing on results rather than just effort?
- C How will contributions be recognized and evaluated?
- D How will we handle difficult decisions, especially in challenging situations? What decision-making process will we follow?
- E How will we resolve conflicts that may arise in our partnership?

