

11.4 From Recharges to an Ecosystem: How Paytm Became India's Super App

1. How It Started?

Paytm was founded in 2010 by Vijay Shekhar Sharma and has emerged as a key player in India's digital payment ecosystem. It has transformed the way people transact and manage their finances by offering seamless digital payment solutions. With an innovative approach and a strong commitment to customer convenience, Paytm has made digital payments more accessible to millions of Indians.

Vijay Shekhar Sharma envisioned financial inclusion and saw the potential of mobile technology as a driving force. This led to the creation of Paytm, a platform designed to empower individuals and businesses by enabling secure and effortless transactions via smartphones. Over the years, Paytm has become synonymous with digital payments in India, revolutionizing the country's financial landscape.
