

To Rashi Wadhwa—your trust and support mean a lot to me. Your presence, understanding, and unwavering belief in me have been invaluable, and I truly appreciate it.

To Rajesh—thank you for always being there and for taking care of the behind-the-scenes details; your support has made a difference.

To my friends, especially Amit Bhalla, Abhishek Shukla, Sumit Seth, and Vaibhav Pansari, who are legends in their own right—thank you for believing in me and shaping me into the person I am today. Beyond all the laughter and debates, you’ve been a constant reminder that life is bigger than just work.

A special mention to the ZebraLearn team—thank you for your patience, trust, and unwavering support throughout this journey.

Finally, to the entrepreneurs, mentors, and the entire startup community—you are the reason this book exists. The journey of building something from nothing is challenging, but it is also the most rewarding. Keep learning, keep adapting, and keep building.

Vivek Chadha