

To manage our lifestyle, we opt for various ways of financing it whether it is as big as home loans or instead as small as buying a smartphone. When you didn't have the facility of taking credit easily, you used to save to buy a particular product. In today's FinTech age, you have multiple options for maintaining a lifestyle beyond what you can afford.

But it will always be you who needs to take care of your personal finances while maintaining lifestyle.

Let's understand how to manage them without disturbing your financial stability.
