

Having money allows you to live a comfortable life.

For example, you can take a vacation with your family, buy a new car or home, or invest in your education or business.

Remember that money is just a tool, and it's up to you to use it in a way that brings you fulfilment or happiness.

Once your basic needs are met, more money does not necessarily equal more happiness.