

Finally, remember a critical illness rider will usually be a tad inferior to a specialised standalone critical illness cover that will cover early stage illnesses as well. The premiums of such policies might actually not be very high than the add on costs in your main policy. So compare the costs here and decide.