

2. Now, according to your priorities, you'll either have to

a. Eliminate unimportant goals

b. Re-evaluate the amount that you need to save.
For example, reducing the outflow required in marriage

Goals	Timeframe	Costs
Building an Emergency fund	2 years	₹1,50,000
Paying off Student Debt	3 years	₹5,00,000
Getting Married	2 years	₹15,00,000 ₹8,00,000
Buying a House	7 years	₹50,00,000
Planning for Retirement	25 years	₹2,00,00,000
Buying a Car	2 years	₹7,00,000
Taking a trip	1 year	₹1,50,000

c. Reduce outflows of certain goals which are time-sensitive. Goals that are not time-sensitive can be started later when current priority goals are achieved. For example, once you have planned your finances for saving your home 5-7 years down the line, then you can start your retirement planning.

Note: For short and medium-term goals, it might not always be possible to entirely save up for them; hence, you might have to take loans for the same.
