

5. The Case for Gold!

Historically gold has shown resilience during economic uncertainties and geopolitical tensions. It also has a negative co-relation with the stock market, meaning when the stock market goes down, the value of gold increases and vice-versa.

It is because of these factors, gold is considered as an important asset to diversify one's portfolio.