

received over these forty-five years, it is quite clear they will be here for you for the remainder of your life and probably far, far after, just as his memory will be for me.