

I would like to dedicate this book to the mother who was my artistic muse, Irma Potter, and the husband who became the wind beneath my wings, David Edward Kenyon. David, you always believed in me. This book was originally your idea, and I couldn't have done it without you, and yet, in the end, I had to. To my beautiful grandson, Jacob, who has bravely fought a childhood cancer during the two years I've worked on this manuscript. And to my eight children who lived the sometimes crazy lifestyle of an avid couponer and refunder and supported me throughout this endeavor: Daniel, Elizabeth, Michael, Rachel, Matthew, Emily, Katherine, and Abigail. I love all of you.
