

About the Authors

Wesley R. Gray, PhD, has studied and been an active participant in financial markets throughout his career. After serving as a captain in the United States Marine Corps, Dr. Gray received a PhD, and was a finance professor at Drexel University. Dr. Gray's interest in entrepreneurship and behavioral finance led him to found Alpha Architect, LLC, an SEC-registered investment adviser, where he is the executive managing member. Dr. Gray has published two books: EMBEDDED: A Marine Corps Adviser Inside the Iraqi Army and QUANTITATIVE VALUE: A Practitioner's Guide to Automating Intelligent Investment and Eliminating Behavioral Errors. His work has been highlighted on CBNC, CNN, NPR, Motley Fool, WSJ Market Watch, CFA Institute, Institutional Investor, and CBS News. Dr. Gray earned an MBA and a PhD in finance from the University of Chicago and graduated magna cum laude with a BS from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

John (Jack) R. Vogel, PhD, conducts research in empirical asset pricing and behavioral finance, and has collaborated with Dr. Gray on multiple projects. His dissertation investigates how behavioral biases affect the value anomaly. His academic experience involves being an instructor and research assistant at Drexel University in both the Finance and Mathematics department. Jack Vogel is currently a managing member of Alpha Architect, LLC, an SEC-registered investment adviser, where he heads the research department and serves as the chief financial officer. Jack has a PhD in finance and a MS in mathematics from Drexel University, and graduated summa cum laude with a BS in mathematics and education from the University of Scranton.

David P. Foulke is currently a managing member of Alpha Architect, where he assists in business development, firm operations, strategic initiatives, and developing papers on quantitative investing and behavioral finance topics. Prior to joining Alpha Architect, he was a senior vice president at Pardee Resources Company, a manager of natural resource assets, including investments in mineral rights, timber, and renewables. Prior to Pardee, he worked in investment banking and capital markets roles