

has one primary purpose: now that you have the same information that they do, you are not powerless. You can take control of your credit. Knowledge is power!

The credit report is a tool that you now know how to use. There is no point in having a tool that you do not use, so do what they do. Monitor your own credit activity. Review your accounts and make sure they are yours and that it all makes sense.

Make it a habit to review your credit report regularly. When you take control of your financial health, every area of your life improves. You can sleep better at night, you feel less stressed at work, you are not so tense with your significant other, and you are not biting the heads off of your family. Curing your debt really does help cure your whole overall life.

Many people experience various emotions in their life and think it is just a part of the rat race (or is it the rate race?) that we live in. You do not have to go through life as one tightly wound ball of stress! Do you ever feel anxious about:

- ✓ The credit card balances that never go away?
- ✓ The fear of being turned over to a collection agency?
- ✓ The fear of being forced into bankruptcy?

Are you sick and tired of:

- ✓ Living paycheck to paycheck?
- ✓ Having no retirement fund?
- ✓ Having no emergency nest egg?
- ✓ Having no savings account?
- ✓ Having no money to invest?
- ✓ Feeling sick and tired?

Do you feel anxious about feeling anxious?!

All the unnecessary extra stress in your life can melt away. If you are feeling bogged down because of your debt, know that you are not stuck forever. They don't own you and they can't run your life. The ties that bind, the financial purse strings of the lenders and the government, are loosening. They do not have you in their grip. You are not their slave!
