

Show Me the Money

“No one saves us but ourselves.”

~ Gautama Siddhartha (Buddha)

Ed and Sue requested their credit reports online. They received their credit reports and their credit score from all three credit bureaus, along with their FICO score. As they meticulously reviewed their credit reports, line by line, they found some errors, along with one erroneous credit item to dispute. They immediately filed the dispute and corrections online, and kept copies of all the paperwork. Ed and Sue deserve a shiny gold star for their efforts. They now want to do everything possible to increase their FICO score. They are smart, responsible citizens, just like you.

They want to do everything possible to boost their credit score and, of course, they want fast results. Here are a few more simple techniques to help Ed and Sue, and you, make credit score improvements.
