

plow, and now you are only a number, but we can follow the example of our proud heritage and pay our bills on time.

Keeping old accounts open and keeping balances low is part of the modern day world that we live in. Now that we know it, we can do it. Getting too many cards can be a problem as Big Brother is watching and monitoring every account and every inquiry.

Now that we know, we know what to show. The key is knowing. Knowledge is power and they can't wield it over us anymore.

I have one more story that can help fix credit reports in a snap. All it takes is two magic words.
