

This successful formula works. In just 24 hours, virtually overnight, you can bring your debt down by one-third, one-half, or even two-thirds! Have a friend with accounting or legal experience help you draft your letter and your financial statements.

The collection agency does not have power over you. You do not have to be afraid of them. You can fight back. You can win.

Michelle was very skeptical and didn't know if she believed that the debt collectors could be taken care of, once and for always. She had nearly $100,000 in debt and thought that she had nowhere to go but bankruptcy. A friend convinced her to prepare an income statement and a balance sheet, along with drafting a letter to the collection agency. Michelle's debts were knocked down to the original $30,000 that she had incurred. Now Michelle is telling everyone to break free from their fears and follow the Debt Cures methods. Simple steps that anyone can follow to bring about astounding results!

You Have the Right to Remain Silent...or Speak Out

Do not forget that you have the right to sue the collection agency if they abused the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. If they were "deceptive, unfair, or abusive," and you have documented your case, it may be a wise move. Creditors and debt collection agencies are frankly quite surprised when they get sued, and it is very expensive for them. When they review the dollars they have to spend for legal fees versus the amount of debt that they are trying to collect from you, it is almost always in their best interest to settle with you. If you do sue and get a settlement, the most important term to get in your settlement is that they will have the collection proceeding removed from your credit report. They can have this negative information removed, and you can start over with a clean slate. That alone can sometimes be worth any legal fees that it cost you to sue.

The numbers of complaints against debt collection agencies are soaring. You do not have to take their extremely aggressive practices. Know your rights, and what they can and cannot do. Take notes of the name, agency, date, and time of every collector you talk to, if you
