

Two-Stepping

Debt Cures is a two-part process. The first is used to free yourself from the bad debt. A person who knows the system, and what the government and the bankers and the big lenders are up to, is a person who can beat them at their own game. Not only do you break away from the bondage of the interest rates and the scams and the predators, but you get to move forward. Life is not just a rut that we have to dig ourselves out of. It is an adventure to be enjoyed!

Dumping the debt is empowering! You have educated yourself. You have the knowledge now. You understand that the twofold process of freeing yourself from debt and freeing yourself to build wealth is comprised of parts that are woven together. The Debt Cures' methods that help you create wealth begin by doing everything we have already covered.

I like to use the analogy of a brick layer. He methodically, step by step, mixes his mortar and lays the bricks. He mixes more mortar, and lays more and more bricks. By keeping to his steady rhythm, he stacks enough bricks that he has created a wall, and it is very strong. He didn't just quickly and restlessly pile up loose bricks, one on top of another, that could easily fall. He didn't just mix a bunch of mortar and stand there and do nothing with it. The brick layer followed his simple techniques, and by doing these steps together, he created something strong. He built something that can last.

Build Your Wall

Not only are you learning how to get out of debt, you are learning to stay out of debt. That is like the mortar that holds the bricks together. The bricks are the building blocks of your wealth. Building wealth is a process of several easy tactics. Following the techniques outlined, you can create a brick wall of wealth and the big bad banking wolf will not be able to blow it down.

Part of the techniques inherent to creating wealth is using credit. To a person who has been deep in debt, it may take some time to come around to the idea that credit can be a good thing. Just about every millionaire in America will tell you that they used good credit to leverage their way to the top. In order for you to get there, you have to rebuild
