

You can use a company to help you find and take advantage of these hidden tax credits. You can simply search on the web for “enterprise zones” or “tax credits” and find one of those companies that fits your needs. I’ll give you more information on enterprise zones in just a bit. Most of them help corporations of all sizes claim the benefit of all available state and federal tax credits. In fact, one small one that I am familiar with, over the last ten years, has helped businesses document over $100 million in tax credits.

You can also cut back on federal income taxes by taking advantage of the Child Tax Credit. You can knock off $1,000 for each of your children! You’re eligible for this credit as long as your child is...

... a U.S. citizen or resident alien.

...under the age of 17 at the end of the tax year.

...your son or daughter, whether he or she is a stepchild, adopted child, eligible foster child, sibling, or stepsibling.

There are some other eligibility requirements involved as well. If your modified adjusted gross income gets too high, you may not be able to collect as much as the maximum allows. The phase-out of benefits starts occurring once these income targets are hit:

...Married Filing Jointly	$110,000
...Married Filing Separately	$55,000
...Others	$75,000

The amount of income tax you owe also plays some part in dictating your credit. If the income tax you owe is less than your Child Tax Credit, that could work out to be a great thing for you! You can possibly take that difference and claim it as well! It would be an “additional” Child Tax Credit. That means that you would be able to collect a refund, without owing any taxes at all! More money for you. Now that you’re informed, you no longer have to blindly dish funds out to the government each year; you can seize the financial control and mold it to your liking. After all, it is your money.

Take a look at Form 1040 or 1040A to take advantage in claiming your Child Tax Credit. If you need a little extra help, you can always grab a copy of Publication 972 from the IRS. It will provide complete details on how to
