

You: I am suggesting that we work together to keep me out of bankruptcy and you not have to turn my account over to collections. If you look at my history, you'll see that I am a good customer. I've had your card a long time. I used the card to do my holiday shopping last December and then I lost my job so I was not able to pay off the balance in full. I have made a payment every month, but the interest and the fees are adding up quicker than I can pay it down. I suggest that we just look at what I originally owed and let me pay that off. The rest is just fees that are extra and I do not have the money to pay for anything more than what I bought. Sound fair?
