

The Report

*Whenever you are asked if you can do a job, tell 'em,
"Certainly I can!" Then get busy and find out how to do it.*
~ Theodore Roosevelt

Now that you are starting to understand the big picture of the credit lending industry and beginning to see that there can be a light at the end of your tunnel of debt, if someone asks you, "Do you think you can cure your debt?," you will respond, "Certainly I can!"

With this book in hand, you are taking the first step to getting busy and finding out how to do it. You are taking control. That is real power.

As we discussed in the previous chapter, you need to learn about your credit report and your credit score because that is your ticket to good credit. It makes you or breaks you. Your score determines if they will give you a loan or a credit card. Well, that is how it used to be in the good old days. Today, hardly anyone gets denied. Nearly everyone can get a credit card, but the fees and interest rates vary depending upon your credit score.

Your Report Card

Many Americans have never seen their credit report or credit score. Information is power, and you need to know the information that they have and are quite possibly using against you. When you were a
