

DEALING with CREDITORS

The way someone deals with creditors says a lot about that person's character and spiritual maturity. The Lord said, "Settle matters quickly with your adversary who is taking you to court. Do it while you are still with him on the way, or he may hand you over to the judge, and the judge may hand you over to the officer, and you may be thrown into prison" (Matthew 5:25). That's merely a confirmation of the principle, "The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender" (Proverbs 22:7).

Many times I have seen Christians take up an offense against a creditor who is especially aggressive about wanting payment of a debt. But although we have legally limited a lender's ability to collect the money owed, that does not negate the lender's authority over the borrower.

The principle to remember is, to always run toward your creditors, not away from them. A very difficult problem to overcome is attempting to negotiate with a creditor who has been ignored for a long time. Put yourself in the position of a creditor. Wouldn't you
