

can recommend someone. But we don't even have the money to pay a lawyer unless he or she would agree to take his fee in installments."

Though they loved Jordan dearly and would do anything for his benefit, the glow had gone from their lives and the future looked bleak.