

However, unless you train ChatGPT in a macroeconomics textbook, it will not return the second meaning. This is simply because the financial literature that ChatGPT is trained on mainly covers the first meaning.

So, to generate accurate responses about a very obscure but important aspect of your field, you must train ChatGPT accordingly.

