

Earlier, social media agencies took a whole week to build a content calendar. But, thanks to AI, this can be done in about 1-click. AI can also be a great creativity booster. You all hit creative blocks and wonder how to design a certain creative or write a certain social media copy. AI can help overcome these blocks by presenting ideas.

Today, you want to build content that resonates with different audiences. At any third-party social media agency, they will charge for every single post, which can be quite expensive. But thanks to AI, you can do personalisation at scale without spending a chunk of money.

These are the prime benefits of using ChatGPT for social media.

Now, let's look at the key features of ChatGPT for social media professionals.

Let's see how you can generate content ideas with ChatGPT.
