For luxury properties in Mumbai and Dubai, targeting potential buyers involves a strategic approach. Here are some avenues you might explore to reach your affluent clientele:

1. Networking Events: Attend upscale networking events, real estate conferences, and gatherings frequented by high-net-worth individuals. Build relationships with potential buyers and other professionals in the industry who can refer clients to you.
2. Online Presence: Establish a strong online presence through a professional website showcasing your premium properties with high-quality images and detailed descriptions. Utilize social media platforms like Instagram, LinkedIn, and Facebook to showcase your listings and engage with your target audience.
3. Partnerships: Collaborate with luxury brands, high-end lifestyle publications, and concierge services to reach potential buyers. Partnering with these entities can give you access to their affluent clientele who may be interested in luxury properties.
4. Targeted Advertising: Invest in targeted advertising campaigns through platforms like Google Ads and social media channels. Use demographic targeting to reach individuals with high income levels and interests related to luxury real estate.
5. Real Estate Portals: List your properties on reputable real estate portals that cater to affluent buyers. Platforms like Sotheby's International Realty, Christie's International Real Estate, and Luxury Portfolio International attract high-net-worth individuals looking for luxury properties worldwide.
6. Local Events and Sponsorships: Sponsor high-profile events in Mumbai and Dubai such as art exhibitions, fashion shows, charity galas, and luxury car shows. These events attract affluent attendees and provide an opportunity to showcase your properties.

So, here you just need some brainstorming advice on where to find some customers. Some avenues ChatGPT responded to consider were networking events, online presence, partnerships, targeted advertising and real estate portals. This was the entire response you received.
